

TAXI DRIVERS
JOIN STRIKEA Thousand of Them in New York Went Out To-day

ONE FIRM'S DRIVERS SPLIT

That's the Development in New York's
Big Strike To-day—A Union Conference Is Being Held This Afternoon.

New York, Nov. 7.—The joint council of the unions of the international brotherhood of teamsters is in session to-day endeavoring to force peace from the express companies or stop every wheel in the city. One thousand drivers of taxicabs and half the wagon force of a large firm failed to report this morning.

While Messrs. Gompers, Tobin and Hoffman were conferring yesterday many of the thirty-five local unions of the city which are affiliated with the strikers held meetings and went on record as favoring a general strike in sympathy with the men who are out. Some of these bodies are building material drivers, the sand and excavation drivers, and local 879 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. The latter organization includes the mail drivers, the flour and seed drivers, paper drivers, the railway express drivers, the transfer drivers, the wholesale dry goods drivers, the taxicab drivers and the export and import drivers.

President Tobin asserted yesterday that a general strike would call out every driver of motor vehicles in the city, except motormen of the elevated railroad, the trolleys and the subway. The impression among the leaders seemed to be that a general strike is all but assured.

Mr. Gompers, who arrived from Washington yesterday to attend the conference, at its close said:

"This strike is a peculiar one. It is the first time in the history of unionism where the men have been willing to arbitrate all questions, even including recognition of their union."

"I hope no serious industrial disturbance will occur but if the express companies do not meet to a more enlightened position, the situation will react against them. I hope the strike will have no serious results."

Vice President Hoffman said the refusal of the companies to arbitrate in all probability would result in a general strike. As Mr. Hoffman was leaving the conference he was seized with a sudden illness and fell unconscious. It is believed that the attack was due to nervous exhaustion.

BLUE LAW INTERFERED

With Aviation Meet at Baltimore Yesterday Afternoon.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 7.—The Baltimore aviation meet, interrupted by the storm of Thursday, was resumed yesterday afternoon before a large crowd. The commissioners of Baltimore county, within which the aviation field lies, declared Saturday night that they would not permit the resumption and the possibility of police interference doubtless reduced the attendance considerably. However, the county police contented themselves with arresting half a dozen of ticket sellers and other officials, who were taken before the neighboring justice of the peace and released under small bail. The county commissioners are said to have acted under a very old blue law which, according to a prominent attorney, would if strictly enforced, prevent a salaried clergyman holding a church service on Sunday.

The aviators had not made as good progress as was expected in repairing the damage to their aeroplanes, so there were no formal contests yesterday afternoon. However, the three exhibition flights, one of them being for altitude in which he scored 2,100 feet, J. Armstrong Drexel reached a height of 3,500 feet. Both flyers reported very low temperature high above the earth.

FOUND SKELETON

Remains of An Aborigine Found In Merrimack.

Merrimack, N. H., Nov. 7.—While a crowd of boys were loitering at the river bank yesterday afternoon about half a mile below the station, they noticed some bones protruding from the soil and, procuring a shovel, excavated the nearly complete skeleton of what is supposed to have been an Indian.

In connection with the bones there was found a bone pipe. The skull and teeth were complete but the foot and leg bones below the knees were missing, probably having been carried down the river at high water.

COOK TO PRESS CLAIM

That He Was the Real Discoverer of the North Pole.

New York, Nov. 7.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook is reported to be ready to press his claim to the real discovery of the north pole. Captain B. S. Osborn, a close friend of the explorer, is in possession of a letter saying that Cook is about ready to "prove his case." The letter was dated from London October 16, Osborn said to-day that the maps and data of Cook, when completed, would convince the world of the truth.

ROBBERS GOT $4,000.

McGETTRICK REJECTED.

Former Vermont Man Not Satisfactory to Boston Commissioners.

Boston, Nov. 7.—The civil service commissioners Saturday notified Mayor Fitzgerald that they had rejected his nomination of Felix W. McGettrick of ward 10 to be penal institutions commissioner and of Philip J. Sondheim of ward 21 to be a trustee in the children's institution department, on the ground that they were not fitted by education, training or experience to fill the positions for which they were named.

Saturday was the last of the 30 days during which a nomination may be held up by the commissioners. There is no salary attached to the trusteeship, while to the position of commissioner there is a salary of $5,000 a year.

Earlier in the year the civil service commissioners rejected the appointment of McGettrick for the position of principal assessor.

In regard to the other position, the commissioners have rejected two previous nominations by the mayor, namely, of Samuel H. Borofsky and of Aaron Yaffe.

Mayor Fitzgerald, in commenting on the rejection of McGettrick and Sondheim, said that the action of the commissioners only shows the inefficiency of a system which permits three men who are not residents of Boston to pass on matters of vital interest to the city's welfare.

"Both McGettrick and Sondheim," said the mayor, "are lawyers, and in my judgment in every way qualified for the positions for which I named them. Mr. McGettrick, in addition to the practice before the courts which comes to the average lawyer during the year, has had a special training in the office of the district attorney. If he does not know how to handle the penal institutions department, who does?"

"What is true of McGettrick is also true of my appointment of Sondheim. If they are not qualified to fill the positions to which I appointed them, they are not qualified to practice law in the courts."

CRIPPEN EXECUTION
POSTPONED TWO WEEKS

Declare Stay of Proceedings Is Not Related to Report of Mrs. Crippen's Being Alive—To Make Thorough Investigation.

London, Nov. 7.—The home office to-day officially ordered that the execution of Dr. H. H. Crippen, the condemned wife murderer, be postponed from tomorrow to Wednesday, November 23. This is taken to mean that Home Secretary Winston Churchill may give the case a thorough hearing before allowing Crippen to be hanged, and may possibly interfere further. Scotland Yard has denied that the postponement is in any way related to the Philadelphia report that Mrs. Crippen is alive and in hiding. Crippen's attorneys denied the petition for a pardon to commute the sentence to life imprisonment. Crippen is delighted and declared that "Something is sure to intervene to prove my innocence."

ONE MAN WAS KILLED

And Three Were Injured In Automobile Accident Yesterday.

Middletown, N. Y., Nov. 7.—A chauffeur was killed and three men were injured when an automobile, said to have been running at a rapid pace, turned turtle near Wallingford yesterday.

All three men were sent to St. Luke's hospital, Newburgh. The injuries of Mr. Roosevelt, owing to his age are likely to keep him in the hospital for several days. Mr. Robinson is not badly hurt.

It was Mr. Roosevelt's car and he was driving it. The accident occurred on the state road. Near Walden, Mr. Roosevelt pulled to one side of the road to pass another car. The Roosevelt machine skidded, a wheel snapped off and the automobile turned over twice.

Ebel's skull was crushed.

Mr. Sill was unconscious when picked up. He may lose his left arm and is seriously hurt. In addition to his other injuries, Mr. Robinson had a fractured rib.

ALLEGED ASSAILANT HELD

Arraigned at Methuen, Mass., To-day on Charge of Assault with Intent to Kill—He Was Placed Under $10,000 Bail.

Methuen, Mass., Nov. 7.—Joseph Peti, a Greek, was held in $10,000 to-day for a hearing on Wednesday morning on the charge of attempt to kill Hugh McLane, an inspector on the southern New Hampshire street railroad last night. McLane was stabbed, and is now in the hospital, perhaps fatally injured. The assault took place on a crowded electric car on the Hove road last night.

Two men passengers started to make trouble on the car, and McLane, the conductor, William H. Crane, tried to stop the disturbance. Their efforts were of no avail, and then they undertook to put the men off the car, whereupon the latter drew their knives. The passengers were thrown into a panic by the turn of events. McLane closed with one of the men and was stabbed repeatedly, after which both men jumped off and fled to the woods nearby. The car man took the injured man to Haverhill to the hospital.

Returning with the car to the scene of the assault, the conductor got off to look for the fugitives and stumbled over a man who jumped at him with a knife. The passengers went to the aid of the conductor, and the man was knocked down with a switch stick. The unconscious captive was then placed aboard the car and placed in jail at Haverhill.

At the Hale hospital, where the forerunner was brought to McLane, he was identified positively as the man who had stabbed him. He gave the name of Giuseppe Peti, 27 years old, of Haverhill. He was then brought to Methuen and locked up.

McLane is 35 years old. He is married and lives in Salem, N. H. He has been in the employ of the road for eight years. Crane, the conductor, is one of the youngest men in the service of the company. He is 21 years old and a favorite. After his last trip, he joined the police in the search through the woods after the other man.

McNaney then ran off some distance and endeavored to take his own life, but was not successful, the shot which he fired at himself inflicting but a minor scalp wound.

Domestic trouble since McNaney was reported to the police for failure to provide for his family, is given as the reason for the shooting. He was arrested on charge of murder.

HOTEL WAR CONTINUES.

Woodbury of the Van Ness Stopped Sunday Work on the "Vermont."

Burlington, Nov. 7.—U. A. Woodbury, one of the owners of the Van Ness house, complained to City Attorney Martin S. Vilas that the noise of workmen engaged about the construction of the new hotel Vermont just across the street was disturbing the Sunday morning quiet of his guests, the charge being that M. L. Powell, who is building the competing hotel, was maintaining a nuisance. Therefore, City Attorney Vilas sent a policeman to stop the noise, and the noise stopped.

Mr. Woodbury stated that the racket of steel girders falling on steel girders started at 7:30, which is an early hour for Sunday morning guests in the Van Ness house. Mr. Powell said he was pressing the work early Sunday morning to avoid possible accident if a girder should fall on a crowd of people who might be gathered there. In the early hours of Sunday he thought most Burlington people would be sleeping, and there would be few pedestrians.

LAW-MAKER SICK,
GOES TO HOSPITAL

Justus Dartt of Springfield Has Been Devoting Himself Very Closely to His Work and Has a Partial Breakdown.

The Vermont legislature begins its sixth week at Montpelier this evening, and it still has the bulk of the biennial business ahead of it. The time limit for the introduction of bills is tomorrow, but there is a chance that the limit will be extended. It has been extended once. Members must have their bills in the hands of the revision committee by that time, but committees are privileged to introduce bills after that. One of the bills in prospect is a drastic automobile measure, to be presented by Mr. Battell of Middlebury, the implacable foe of motor vehicles.

A number of dates are set for this week already. To-morrow afternoon the bill to have the office of state highway commissioner elective by the people, instead of appointive by the governor, will be taken up as a special order. An important hearing locally will be on Senator Archibald's bill, which provides for the appointment of the clerk of Washington county court by the supreme court judges and that all other county clerks shall be appointed by the assistant judges of the several county courts. That hearing will be held also to-morrow afternoon before the Senate judiciary committee.

Representative Dartt of Springfield has been taken to the Heston hospital, suffering from the strain of overwork. Mr. Dartt has applied himself closely to the work assigned him, particularly as chairman of the committee on state schools, and he has partially broken down under the work. It is expected that after a few days' rest and treatment at the hospital he will be able to take his place in the legislature.

WINOOSKI STORE ROBBED.

Two Alleged Burglars Were Arrested Yesterday.

Winooski, Nov. 7.—The hardware store of George Allen in the Winooski block was entered at about eleven o'clock Saturday night. Earl Lavallee and Maynard Page were arrested yesterday, charged with the break and Lyman Cross, who is also wanted, is still at large. About eight o'clock yesterday morning George Allen opened his store and found that the money drawer had been rifled from $6 to $15. Just how much money the burglars took is not known. Mr. Allen reported the burglary to Chief of Police E. H. Horton, who was waiting for a car to go to Burlington with two prisoners, arrested Saturday night.

On his return the chief went to the store and took in the situation. Suspicious were aired by the crowd that gathered with the result that Harry Kirby, son of Paul Kirby, was interviewed and a clue to the culprits was learned. Chief Horton questioned Kirby closely until he told that he was invited to be a member of the gang, but did not show up. He named Lavallee, Paige and Cross as the other members.

The total kill reported is 1,606. As last season's slaughter was 4,507, Commissioner Titcomb does not believe more than half the deer killed have been reported, but he expects the total will be less than last year. By sex there have been 925 bucks killed and 730 does.

The smallest deer killed was a doe, weighing 30 pounds. The fatality of the week includes the accidental killing of a boy in Middlebury, while careless hunters in other parts of the state have killed a jersey bull, a sucking colt and a horse. The record by counties is as follows:

Addison 73, Bennington 92, Caledonia 107, Chittenden 35, Essex 31, Franklin 82, Grand Isle 1, Lamoille 97, Orange 163, Orleans 31, Rutland 222, Washington 260, Windham 181, Windsor 251.

STOWE PERHAPS LEADS

In Number of Deer Killed This Year, the Total Being About 70.

Stowe, Nov. 7.—With a total killing of about 70 deer, it is expected that Stowe will lead the state this year. Last year the town was fourth with 89. Bridgewater having 94, Weatherfield 92 and Waterbury 92. The number killed here in 1908 before the open season for doe was but 23.

The requirement of a license has proven an incentive to many hunters and a large number were out this season than usual. H. G. Thomas, former state fish and game commissioner, is of the opinion that 6,000 deer were killed in the state last year, if the truth were known.

$25,000 FIRE IN BRUNSWICK.

Business Centre Threatened by Blaze Which Destroys Block.

Brunswick, Me., Nov. 7.—Fire, which for a time threatened the town building and other structures in the business centre last night, destroyed the Boardman block, a three-story business structure, with a loss estimated at upward of $25,000. The cause of the fire is not known. It was discovered only after the flames were breaking through the walls and roof in several places.

The building was owned by the Boardman estate and was occupied on the first floor by Nelson McFadden, a grocery dealer, and on the second and third floors by W. F. Senter, dry goods dealer.

TRY TO PROVE AN ACCIDENT

That Is Likely To Be Defense In Averill Case

WHICH STARTED TO-DAY

Mrs. Frank C. Averill Was Arraigned in Franklin County Court on the Charge of First Degree Murder for Death of Husband.

St. Albans, Nov. 7.—In Franklin county court this afternoon, Mrs. Frank C. Averill was arraigned on an indictment charging her with first degree murder in killing her husband at their home in the Tullar district on October 20. Judge Willard W. Miles is presiding. The woman pleaded not guilty, and the work of empaneling a jury was then started. State's Attorney Johnson is assisted by Attorney General Sargent and State's Attorney-elect George M. Hogan.

The woman is defended by attorneys M. H. Alexander and W. R. Austin. Under the indictment, which charges first degree murder, if the woman should be convicted, a verdict of first or second degree murder, manslaughter or assault can be returned, as the intent may be proven. It is understood that the efforts of the defense will be directed toward maintaining that the shooting of Averill was the result of an accident. The case is attracting a great deal of attention hereabouts, and is likely to be quite long.

DEER RETURNS ARE NOT COMPLETED

But Commissioner Titcomb Expects Total Kill To Be Considerably Below the Record of Last Season.

Lyndonville, Nov. 7.—Saturday was the last day of the six days open season for deer in Vermont, and John W. Titcomb, state fish and game commissioner, has tabulated the reports thus far received. This is the second season that the law allows shooting does.

Many of the does killed have been found without milk, indicating they have raised no young the past season. If this condition continues to exist and the doe law is not repealed, it will only be a question of time when deer will become very scarce.

The total kill reported is 1,606. As last season's slaughter was 4,507, Commissioner Titcomb does not believe more than half the deer killed have been reported, but he expects the total will be less than last year. By sex there have been 925 bucks killed and 730 does.

The smallest deer killed was a doe, weighing 30 pounds. The fatality of the week includes the accidental killing of a boy in Middlebury, while careless hunters in other parts of the state have killed a jersey bull, a sucking colt and a horse. The record by counties is as follows:

Addison 73, Bennington 92, Caledonia 107, Chittenden 35, Essex 31, Franklin 82, Grand Isle 1, Lamoille 97, Orange 163, Orleans 31, Rutland 222, Washington 260, Windham 181, Windsor 251.

BOY SCOUTS MAY ORGANIZE.

Meeting Called for This Evening in the Presbyterian Church.

A meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Sunday school room this evening at 7 o'clock, to which all boys between the ages of 14 and 18, who are members of the church or Sunday school, are invited. The business of the evening is to organize a Boy Scout camp. This great movement has a motto, "Semper Paratus," (Always Prepared). Therefore a scout is to be trusted, a scout is loyal, a scout's duty is to be useful and to help others; a scout is a friend to all and a brother to every other scout, no matter to what social class he belongs. And, above all, a scout is the protector of girls and women at all times, and he holds this a sacred duty. A scout is courteous; a scout is a friend to animals, and there is still more that might be said about this good movement interested in this work, will meet the boys and talk to them, and see just what can be done with the boys in Barre. It is far better to see them in an order of this kind and see them obeying the law, than to have the boys of this city grow up to be a burden to their fellowmen and also to themselves. It is hoped that a large number will be present to organize this movement in Barre.

DETECTIVE
IN A BOX CAR

Migliarini Came Along and Broke Into Car

DETECTIVE JUMPED UP

Migliarini Yelled "Don't Shoot" and Submitted to Arrest, Later Confessing a Previous Theft in a Freight Car.

When Ernesto Migliarini broke into a freight car on the Central Vermont siding near the Leland company's shed in North Barre about 7 o'clock last evening, with the hope, so he claims, of finding some bread to feed his wife and seven young children, he did not find any bread, but he did find J. H. Thompson, a railroad policeman, who had been sealed up in the car for the very purpose of apprehending a thief, should one be so unlucky as to visit that car.

Stealing from the freight cars in the C. V. yard has been going on for some time, it is said, and the officials of the road took it in hand to round up the thieves if possible. Late yesterday afternoon, Thompson was sealed up in this freight car while it was at Montpelier, and the car was then run to Barre and set off at the siding at North Barre. The officer did not have to wait long before he heard two men talking near the car, and finally one of them came to the car door and with some pinches broke the seal and pushed the door open.

One of the men entered the car and the other stayed outside to watch. The man in the car lighted a candle which he brought with him and began to look over the barrels and boxes in the car. He had started to open one of the boxes when Thompson jumped from behind a box in the other end of the car and confronted him.

To say the least, the thief was startled, and he voluntarily threw up his hands and begged the officer not to shoot him. "I am only looking for some bread for my poor wife and seven children," he exclaimed to the officer. On the appearance of the officer the man on watch scooted away. Thompson handcuffed his man to his own wrist and marched him to the police station, where he pumped him with questions for an hour before he finally admitted that he broke into a car near the freight depot a week ago and stole some clothing, tobacco and several bottles of Herpicide hair dressing.

The officers say that it took the limit of the "third degree" before they could get any confession out of him. He told the officers that he had part of the stolen goods at his house and the rest were at the house of Angelo Guidi, his brother-in-law, who lives beside him on Ladd street. Chief Sinclair and officer Gamble, Thompson and Migliarini then went to the houses on Ladd street and found 19 woolen union suits of underwear, a box containing 85 bags of fine cut tobacco and several pounds of plug tobacco. The Herpicide, he said, was hid in the woods, and he would get it later. When arrested, Migliarini was on one of the union suits, and his wife told the officers that she and one of her daughters each had on one of the suits.

This morning Migliarini was arraigned in court on the charges of grand larceny and burglary. M. M. Gordon appeared as counsel for the prisoner and examination was waived and Judge Scott bound the respondent over to county court. Bail was set at $500, which he thought he would be able to furnish. Migliarini claims that it was his brother-in-law, Guidi, who was watching beside the car last evening. Guidi was not at home when the officers went to his house to get the clothing that was there.

Other Court Cases.

Pietro Pelliccia, the 18-year-old boy, who was arraigned in city court a week ago to-day for intoxication and was sent to jail until he was ready to tell the truth in a declaration where he got his liquor, was brought into court again this morning and told a third different story from that he told the first time. This morning he claimed he got six bottles of beer from an English-speaking man whom he did not know and that he drank the whole six bottles.

In his first story, he said that he and several other companions drove out to a farm in the morning and took 12 bottles of beer with them, and his second story was that he had only four bottles of beer, which he got from a stranger. The boy has been in this country only three months and can speak no English. Some of his friends had M. M. Gordon appear in court with him this morning, and Mr. Gordon, after he heard the boy's disclosures, told the court that the boy was not telling the truth. Judge Scott ordered him taken back to the jail again.

Joseph Thibaud pleaded guilty in court this morning to a first offense of intoxication and paid a fine, with costs, amounting to $10.54. Thibaud was arrested at 4:30 o'clock this morning at Depot square by officer Dineen, whose first thought was that it was Halloween night and the ghosts were out, as Thibaud had a large paper four sack stuck on his head and the floor scattering out of the bag whitened his clothes. The officer stopped him, and asked where he was going. Thibaud said that he was going home and that he had been out all night. He had lost his hat and, being bald, had put on the paper bag to protect his head from the cold until he could get home.

At the last regular meeting of the A. O. H., acting on Mayor Mutch's communication, the following were elected to serve as soldiers' monument committee:
